Description

This self-contained environment monitor has an on-board temperature-humidity sensor. Up to four plug-and-play digital sensors can be connected using a standard splitter. The Watchdog 15-P has a built-in web server, allowing remote access to the device.

From a secure web interface, users can keep an eye on remote conditions. Environment measurements are logged and graphed for trending and capacity management. If alarm thresholds are breached, the Watchdog 15-P sends alerts via email, email-to-SMS and SNMP traps.

The Watchdog 15-P connects to an ethernet network. Simple to install and use, no special software other than a standard web browser is needed to access and configure the device. The Web interface supports up to four IP cameras (not included), giving a quick view of remote conditions, especially useful in event the of an alarm.

Compact and light, the Watchdog 15-P offers a variety of mounting options and is perfect for tight installations. A non-power over Ethernet (PoE) option is also available.
